CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be remoistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE IT to action; to a normal urge to purge. Only a bulk laxative can 1) remoisten this dry, shrunken waste and 2) supply vital bulk to recreate a normal urge to purge. And, of all bulk laxatives, COLONAID, the new laxative discovery relieves even chronic conso gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy. Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, Colonald neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions. It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And Colonam exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get Colonaid, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98c for the 60

tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

SANTA HELD OVER - Santa Claus delayed his return to the North Pole long enough to give the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club a helping hand in entertaining nearly 50 youngsters at dinner in the Penn-Stroud Hotel yesterday. He is shown distributing boxed gifts to the happy children. The tots were selected by the school nurses and came from all sections of the county. On behalf of the club, John E. Walt presented a gift to the retiring president, William P. Wells.

Tight Money Solution Isn't Found In Meeting All Demands For Cash

"hardship" of so-called "tight" money. They are talking about the relative scarcity of lending money and the recent rise in

They think the Government ought to do something - which means lend taxpayer money at low rates.

The answer to the money shortage is a simple one, and it already is beginning to make itself evident. It is in the savings of the people.

Because interest rates have risen, saving is more attractive.

W. Randolph Burgess, Under Secretary of the Treasury, summed it up concisely in a recent speech when he said this:

"If the Federal Reserve in effect printed money to meet all demands for money-or

Some politicians keep harping about the even just those that seemed desirable-it would cause price inflation.

"So the only way to finance more rapid economic growth is by increasing savings. Higher money rates themselves encourage

Individual income is at all-time high, so the money is here to be saved. And Mr. Burgess said people now are saving at the rate of 21 billion dellars a year, as compared to 16 billion dollars at this time last year. They also are paying off their debts, which in turn makes more money available

Our booming economy needs more capital-but it must find it without indulging in inflation. The savings of the people are the only sound source, and attractive interest rates are the incentive.

Politicians Jockey For Inside Track In Governor And U.S. Senator Contests

In case you haven't guessed it yet, all political eyes in Pennsylvania are turned to 1958 and the two juicy political plums that will be ripe for the picking then the governorship and retiring U.S. Senator Ed Martin's seat.

Democratic rumor mills already have started grinding out the names of Governor Leader and Philadelphia Mayor Dilworth as good bets for the Senate and gubernatorial races respectively. But the Democrats, victors in the last state battles for Governor and U.S. Senator, cannot hope to match the pre-pre-election jockeying for position by their Republican opponents in the Commonwealth.

Needless to say, the Republicans were stunned by their losses in those two key elections; but they were heartened again by the convincing manner in which they gained control of both State legislative houses last Nov. 6. In their efforts to put up a really powerful slate of candidates in 1958, we can expect a great deal of sly testing of public opinion by the time-honored method of political name-dropping.

Already, two names have been dropped into the Republican hopper.

State Senator George M. Wade, of Camp Hill, gave up his insurance agency earlier this month to devote more time to state government and, his friends say, to start building himself up for the top position on the Republican ticket.

And now the name of Harold Stassen, disarmament advisor to the Eisenhower Administration, is being bandied about as Need Not Be Dull a possibility for one of the offices. Ever since he assumed the presidency of the ed a reminder here, that ability University of Pennsylvania about eight years ago, Mr. Stassen has been a resident of and a registered voter in this state, so he qualifies on that count. Indisputably, he is a figure of national prominence but his recent anti-Nixon drive, which failed both in its accomplishment and in its predictions of disaster for an Eisenhower-Nixon slate, has hurt his standing with most Republicans throughout the nation.

"It's too premature," was Mr. Stassen's reply to these new rumors, but he said it with all the shy coyness of a young woman denying her reported engagement while having already selected her bridal gown and sized the engagement ring.

Frankly, it is too premature for either political party to make any definite commitments to any candidate. Too much can happen in 1957 to change the wisdom of naming any particular candidate for 1958

Still, the season for political trial balloons is with us. Which doesn't mean, however, that we have to swallow any of the hot air that is sending them up.

Supporters of the McCarran-Walter Act say this confirms their belief that the law does not need to be changed as drastically Eisenhower has long wanted. They say the President himself proved the law is liberal enough to permit the United States to meet any immigration emergencies such as the Hungarian refugee situation.

Had the administration been able to complain that it was the restrictive provisions of the immigration law which kept the Hungarians out of the United States, it would have had a possibily irresistible argument for wholesale modification of the law. Now, however it will have a very hard time convincing Congress that it's necessary.

Oklahoma Standout Thrills 38.181 With Runs And Passes

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 26 (A) — A halfback who never learned what it's like to lose a college football game—Oklahoma's All-America, Tommy MacDonald — lead the North to a 17-7 victory over the South tonight in the Shrine's college all-star game in the Orange Bowl.

The magnificent MacDonald, a standout on the Oklahoma team through three straight undefeated seasons, thrilled a crowd of 39,181 with his elusive running and bull's-eye passing as the Yankees chalked up their second win in the nine-
